

Oasis Software Adds More Development Resources

25th October 2006

Leading Australian Practice Management provider Oasis Software has expanded its Development team with the appointment of Gary Choo to the new role of development engineer. Mr Choo's software development experience and database programming skills will help the existing Oasis team to expand its capabilities in response to the strong sales growth experienced since the start of the year.

"I'm very excited about joining the team at Oasis, their reputation for innovative product design and their commitment to customers was definitely an attraction" Mr Choo said. Prior to starting with Oasis Mr Choo had spent 5 years with Quest Technology in Singapore as an Analyst Programmer.

Mr Choo's appointment and the growth of the Melbourne based support centre has seen staff numbers increase by 20% this year as Oasis continues to implement its expansion plans started after the merger with Software of Excellence at the beginning of the year.
